

Maggie Jarrett

DIRECTOR

Maggie Jarrett returned to CommPac in September 2015 after an 11-year hiatus on the mainland. She previously worked at CommPac in 2003.

In addition to serving as the company's in-house editor, her responsibilities include media relations, branding, strategic communications and marketing for a variety of clients.

For much of her decades-long career, Maggie has worked as a PR practitioner in the healthcare industry, in Hawaii at The Queen's Medical Center and St. Francis Healthcare System of Hawaii, and in Louisiana at CHRISTUS St. Frances Cabrini Hospital. While in Louisiana she also served as an executive director of a regional arts council where she directed visual and performing arts programs in an eight-parish (county) area. As a freelance writer, her articles have appeared in both national and regional publications.

Maggie has served on a number of professional and community non-profit boards including the International Association of Business Communicators and the Society of Hospital Marketing and Public Relations (Hawaii), the Central Louisiana Chamber of Commerce, The Alexandria (La.) Rotary Club and several arts and advocacy organizations in Louisiana.

Maggie is a graduate of the University of Missouri School of Journalism. She lives in Kailua.